Studying for a qualification can sometimes seem quite daunting, especially if you've been out of formal education for a while. But there's no need to worry about making the right choices, the study time or the exams. If you plan properly, and take advantage of all the support the CII has to offer, your journey should be a smooth one.

Your guide to studying with us

When starting study with the CII there are a number of steps to take and decisions you'll need to make. As a guide we recommend you consider the following:

Enjoy unique member benefits

Joining the PFS/CII gives you an advantage by creating a platform for your study. It gives you privileged access to technical information including an archive of past exam papers for written exams and online technical library.

You get discounts on CII study materials and exam entry, saving up to 22%. Membership also supports you in your working life. For example, adviser members can apply for their free Statement of Professional Standing (SPS), and qualified members receive free access to a regulatory approved CPD programme.

See the inside front cover for more details.

Non-CII qualifications can count

If you hold a degree or professional qualification in a relevant subject, for example accounting, business, law, finance, management or maths, you could receive credits that count towards completion of a CII qualification. In doing so, you'll avoid duplicating learning already completed and obtain your CII qualification more quickly.

For further information visit www.cii.co.uk/prior-learning where you'll find full guidance on the rules, requirements, fees and an application form.

Plan your unit pathway

Apart from single-unit 'Awards', CII qualifications require completion of a number of different units, each covering a specific topic.

Some qualifications are designed to meet Financial Conduct Authority (FCA) appropriate qualification requirements, and are therefore made up of specific combinations of units. We suggest these are completed in sequence as they often build upon one another.

Others, like the Diploma and Advanced Diploma in Financial Planning and Certificate in Life and Pensions allow you to self-select units according to your individual circumstances.

Completion requirements for all qualifications can be found on pages 4–11 and further information on each unit can be found on pages 12–13.

Create a personalised learning programme

You can make studying simpler by taking advantage of the available support, and by selecting study and revision materials that best suit your preferred style of learning.

Exam results reveal that a blended learning approach using a combination of learning and revision materials substantially increases your chance of first-time exam success.

Find out more about available learning materials on pages 14–17.

Take exams when you're ready

Online tested exams are offered throughout the year, typically weekly, so pick your choice of time and location. Written exams are typically available twice-yearly in April and October.

Get the dates for your diary on pages 18–19.

Notes

1 Units CF2 and CF4 will be examined for the final time in August 2015 and CF5 in July 2015.

2 This unit is treated as equivalent to a withdrawn CII unit. Refer to 'Credit awards for similar units' opposite for more information.

3 Not Ofqual registered.

Assessment method

Each unit covers an individually assessed topic. Assessment methods vary and depend on a unit's level and subject matter.

Written exam

Tested in April and October and also January and July for R06, (note, CF5 won't be tested in October, instead it is last being tested in July). Results are released after nine weeks (six weeks for CF5 and R06).

Online exam

Multiple choice questions, tested, year-round, typically weekly, at online exam centres, with immediate notification of results online.

Coursework assignments

Three assignments, each up to 3,000 words, which need to be passed within a 12 month enrolment period.

Unit syllabuses

CII units are based on the published syllabuses which set out the learning outcomes expected of candidates during the assessment. Syllabuses also identify published material designed to assist you in preparing for exams or coursework assessment.

Visit www.cii.co.uk/qualifications (and select your qualification) to download unit syllabuses.

Credit awards for similar units

Due to the extent of syllabus overlap, certain combinations of current and withdrawn CII units will result in only one award of credits. If a withdrawn equivalent is held you may not need to complete a current unit in order to satisfy a qualification's completion rules.

Where two of these units are held, the higher of the two credit figures will be added to your CII Learning Account. However, should you wish, you may still choose to sit an 'overlapping' unit in order to enhance your knowledge (for which you will gain no credits).

Visit www.cii.co.uk/similar-units for details.
